

Ellen den Broeder, Projectleader EuroMaintenance;

“NVDO looks back on a fantastic and unforgettable EuroMaintenance in Rotterdam. Special thanks to the sponsors with extra big thanks to SKF, IFS and Mainnovation. 37 Workshops were incredibly well attended. 31 countries have maintained and expanded their international network. 13 Keynotes captivated the participants every day and the Inspiring Tables gave the best practices. And of course a big THANK YOU to all visitors, EFNMS and Ahoy Rotterdam. Working on this project has been a great honor and the credits are for Ian van den Brink, who was the real projectleader during three days of EuroMaintenance in stead of me.... . We look forward to join the EuroMaintenance in Rimini, Italy next year”.

Ian van den Brink, NVDO;

“I cannot stress enough that the amount of great networking, fun and beautiful encounters really made EuroMaintenance 2023 a pleasure to host. It took a lot of work to organize this edition, but we had so much fun in doing so that I can look back on a wonderful journey! Many thanks go out to all who visited, our sponsors that made the event possible and the Ahoy team for their support. But above all, I would like to thank Ellen den Broeder more than anyone for our amazing teamwork! I am beyond happy to be part of the NVDO team”.

Bas Kimpel, Chairman NVDO;

“Euromaintenance 2023; a Unique event! Those who attended EM2023 will agree: The EM2023 congress together with the Maintenance Next exhibition were unique and unrivalled in content, organization and participation. All 31 European countries were present by multiple participants making this event a melting pot of knowledge and ideas. The relaxed and pleasant atmosphere during and after workshops and lectures have made networking a real feast. I am sure that after this event everyone went home with extended knowledge and additional acquaintances. This all have been made possible by the perfect organization from Ahoy and especially by NVDO. Many thanks and appreciation must be given towards Mrs. Ellen den Broeder and Mr. Ian van den Brink”.

Pieter Bas Dujardin, Rotterdam Ahoy;

“Rotterdam Ahoy is proud that we have hosted the international EuroMaintenance conference. A logical combination because the Rotterdam Ahoy Convention Center is designed to facilitate conferences of different formats. When the opportunity arose to link EuroMaintenance to the Maintenance NEXT exhibition, the choice was quickly made. As a result, all levels of the maintenance industry came together in Rotterdam. It was great to see that the EuroMaintenance guests visited the exhibition; exhibitors appointed that they spoke to many international guests at their booth. It is nice to see that the conceived synergy was also visible in practice. We thank EFNMS and NVDO for choosing Rotterdam Ahoy and wish AIMAAN success with the organization of EuroMaintenance 2024”.

Cosmas Vamvalis, Chairman EFNMS;

"On behalf of the EFNMS community, we would like to express our warmest congratulations to NVDO for the excellent organization of EuroMaintenance23. This event was undoubtedly one of the best EuroMaintenance conferences ever held. The quality of the speeches was exceptional, and the format of the program was very well-structured. The premises were excellent, and the EuroMaintenance exhibition and the MaintenanceNext added significant value to the main conference. Furthermore, the social program was innovative and enjoyable for all the participants. We would like to express our special thanks to Ellen Den Broeder and Ian van den Brink for their outstanding efforts in taking care of every small detail of the conference, making it an unforgettable experience for all attendees. We hope that we will have the opportunity to meet you again at the next EuroMaintenance in Rimini in October 2024".
